material facts to the Finance and Administrative Committee. Any director may recuse himself or herself at any time from involvement in any decision or discussion in which the director believes he or she has or may have a conflict of interest, without going through the process of determining whether a conflict of interest exists. The committee, without the presence of the interested person, shall determine whether to recommend to the Board of Directors that a conflict of interest exists. Upon receiving recommendation, the Board shall allow the interested person to make a presentation before the proceeding to deliberate and vote, with the presence of the interested party, on whether a conflict of interest exists. If a conflict of interest exists, after exercising due diligence, the Board will determine if the organization can obtain a more advantageous transaction or arrangement with reasonable efforts from a person or entity that would not give rise to a conflict. If this is not possible, the Board shall determine by majority vote of the disinterested directors whether the transaction is fair and reasonable and in the best interest of the organization. If the organization believes an interested person has failed to disclose actual or possible conflicts of interest, it will inform the interested party of its basis and give opportunity to explain the alleged failure to disclose. The Board will take appropriate disciplinary and corrective action after hearing the interested person.
